Interartes-Laura Brignoli 2019-08-29T00:00:00+02:00 Il volume presenta una serie di studi che indagano da un punto di vista testuale, socio-culturale, enciclopedico, editoriale, economico-produttivo, il reimpiego consapevole di tematiche e soggetti tratti dai grandi classici moderni in opere ascrivibili alle categorie di riscrittura, plagio, suite o continuazione, trasposizione intersemiotica.

Macchine che pensano-New Scientist 2018-11-26 Un giorno l'intelligenza delle macchine supererà quella degli esseri umani. Siamo dunque a un passo dall'apocalisse, con supercomputer che prenderanno il sopravvento sull'uomo? Oppure la loro crescita preannuncia l'avvento di una nuova era, con macchine capaci di svolgere compiti complessi meglio e più velocemente di noi? Ogni giorno interagiamo con macchine intelligenti senza rendercene conto. Indirizzano le nostre telefonate, approvano gli acquisti con carta di credito, interpretano gli esami medici, compongono musica e creano persino opere d'arte. Presto, inoltre, le automobili a guida automatica percorreranno le strade di tutto il mondo. Ma come funzionano queste macchine? Come apprendono e come pensano? Negli anni '50 sognavamo di costruire intelligenze simili a quella dell'uomo. Oggi abbiamo creato menti che, elaborando grandi quantità di dati, riescono a riconoscerci e a prendere decisioni, eppure sono fondamentalmente diverse da noi. Il volume esamina i molteplici aspetti dell'intelligenza artificiale, dalle sue svariate applicazioni al dibattito etico che riguarda il futuro (non troppo lontano) della nostra società, fino alla domanda cruciale: le macchine erediteranno la Terra? Chiude il libro una divertente raccolta di 50 "idee" legate all'intelligenza artificiale: curiosità, citazioni famose, freddure e riferimenti al mondo letterario, artistico, musicale e cinematografico. Curato dal giornalista scientifico Douglas Heaven, il volume ospita contributi di importanti esperti di tecnologia, robotica e intelligenza artificiale.

Videogame-induced tourism. Esperienze oltre lo schermo-Fabrizio Berardone 2017-09-01 Con l'inarrestabile progressione tecnologica, la Realtà Virtuale, ma soprattutto una delle sue diramazioni più ludiche, il videogame, è un ottimo esempio di come si possa "indurre" un utilizzatore più o meno assiduo e più o meno giovane, attraverso una serie di ambientazioni sempre più fedeli al mondo reale, ad abbandonare per un momento il monitor e passare a esperire, realmente, quei luoghi teatri di sfide, raid e avventure sempre più vicine alla realtà e, di conseguenza, sempre più "vissute". Partendo da un'attenta riflessione teorico-metodologica, l'autore conduce una rigorosa analisi, giungendo a individuare nel Videogame-induced tourism, come lui stesso lo definisce, una potenziale strategia sia per gli "specialisti" del comparto turistico, ma soprattutto per i fruitori di queste piattaforme, tracciando, nel contempo, un percorso all'interno del quale possano nascere e svilupparsi idee e prospettive di ricerche e innovazioni future. La riflessione sul legame tra videogame, territorio e turismo continua in questa riedizione, con ulteriori case studies, rispecchiando la sua naturale evoluzione già esposta nel saggio dello stesso autore, VR-induced tourism.

A Princess Found-Sarah Culberson 2010-05-11 Sarah Culberson was adopted one year after her birth by a loving, white, West Virginian couple and was raised in the United States with little knowledge of her ancestry. Though raised in a loving family, Sarah wanted to know more about the birth parents that had given her up. In 2004, she hired a private investigator to track down her biological father. When she began her search, she never imagined what she would discover or where that information would lead her: she was related to African royalty, a ruling Mende family in Sierra Leone and that she is considered a mahaloi, the child of a Paramount Chief, with the status like a princess. What followed was an unforgettably emotional journey of discovery of herself, a father she never knew, and the spirit of a war-torn nation. A Princess Found is a powerful, intimate revelation of her quest across the world to learn of the chieftom she could one day call her own.

Noun+Noun Compounds in Italian-Radimský Jan 2015-12-28 This book investigates one concrete compounding pattern in present-day Italian within a larger overview of Italian compounding. Various accounts and classifications of Noun + Noun combinations in Italian are reviewed, with special focus on the status of the lexical integrity hypothesis. The author sets out to propose an integrated approach to the Noun + Noun compounding pattern, rigorously based on large representative data sets that were extracted from the Italian web corpus ItWaC as both automatically and manually post-processed frequency lists. On the basis of such data, it is aimed to show the behaviour of various subtypes of Noun + Noun compounds. Starting out with the Bisetto-Scalise classification, the author carefully examines the status of coordinate compounds, ATAP compounds (i.e., the group comprising attributive and appositive structures) and subordinate compounds (comprising verbal-nexus and grounding compounds), discussing both theoretical and empirical implications of this classification scheme. Moreover, the original Bisetto-Scalise model is supplemented with further classification levels in order to capture specific compounding types such as relational (i.e. inherently trinominal) compounds. A major merit of the present study lies in the quantitative dimension of the data it deals with. In light of this data, the author emphasizes the gradient nature of the traditional dichotomy between syntax and compounding. The book will thus appeal not only to the linguists interested specifically in Italian word-formation, but also to a larger community of scholars who seek a more general view of the word-formation phenomena.

Wrestling with Shylock-Edna Nahshon 2017-03-31 Shakespeare's The Merchant of Venice occupies a unique place in world culture. As the fictional, albeit iconic, character of Shylock has been interpreted as exotic outsider, social pariah, melodramatic villain and tragic victim, the play, which has been performed and read in dozens of languages, has served as a lens for examining ideas and images of the Jew at various historical moments. In the last two hundred years, many of the play's stage interpreters, spectators, readers and adapters have themselves been Jews, whose responses are often embedded in literary, theatrical and musical works. This volume examines the ever-expanding body of Jewish responses to Shakespeare's most Jewishly relevant play.

Comparing the Literatures-David Damrosch 2020-04-07 From a leading figure in comparative literature, a major new survey of the field that points the way forward for a discipline undergoing rapid changes Literary studies are being transformed today by the expansive and disruptive forces of globalization. More works than ever circulate worldwide in English and in translation, and even national traditions are increasingly seen in transnational terms. To encompass this expanding literary universe, scholars and teachers need to expand their linguistic and cultural resources, rethink their methods and training, and reconceive the place of literature and criticism in the world. In Comparing the Literatures, David Damrosch integrates comparative, postcolonial, and world-literary perspectives to offer a comprehensive overview of comparative studies and its prospects in a time of great upheaval and great opportunity. Comparing the Literatures looks both at institutional forces and at key episodes in the life and work of comparatists who have struggled to define and redefine the terms of literary analysis over the past two centuries, from Johann Gottfried Herder and Germaine de Staël to Edward Said, Gayatri Spivak, Franco Moretti, and Emily Apter. With literary examples ranging from Ovid and Kālidāsa to James Joyce, Yoko Tawada, and the internet artists Young-Hae Chang Heavy Industries, Damrosch shows how the main strands of comparison—philology, literary theory, colonial and postcolonial studies, and the study of world literature—have long been intertwined. A deeper understanding of comparative literature's achievements, persistent contradictions, and even failures can help comparatists in literature and other fields develop creative responses to today's most important questions and debates. Amid a multitude of challenges and new possibilities for comparative literature, Comparing the Literatures provides an important road map for the discipline's revitalization.

Common Sense Mathematics-Ethan D. Bolker 2016-05-04 Common Sense Mathematics is a text for a one semester college-level course in quantitative literacy. The text emphasizes common sense and common knowledge in approaching real problems through popular news items and finding useful mathematical tools and frames with which to address those questions. We asked ourselves what we hoped our students would remember about this course in ten year's time. From that ten year perspective thoughts about syllabus—"what topics should we cover?"—seemed much too narrow. What matters more is our wish to change the way our students' minds work—the way they approach a problem, or, more generally, the way they approach the world. Most people "skip the numbers" in newspapers, magazines, on the web and (more importantly) even in financial information. We hope that in ten years our students will follow the news, confident in their ability to make sense of the numbers they find there and in their daily lives. Most quantitative reasoning texts are arranged by mathematical topics to be mastered. Since the mathematics is only a part of what we hope students learn, we've chosen another strategy. We look at real life stories that can be best understood with careful reading and a little mathematics.
